GENERAL RUBRIC FOR GRADING CLOSED LABS

Program	Description	Points
Documentation	Comments have been added to each group of logically related statements, including each: • Decision statement • Loop statement • Group of logically related statement • User defined function	10
Style	Variable: • Meaningful names are used unless specified by the program description • Variable naming convention is followed • No global variable is used Constants: • Defined when appropriate • Defined in the global declaration section • Constant naming convention is followed User defined functions: • Defined when appropriate • No function should have more than 25 lines of code (exclude white lines and lines only containing curly brackets) • Function naming convention is followed	5
	Proper Indentation is used to make the program easier to read. • All the decision statements are indented properly. • All the loop statements are indented properly • Body of the functions are indented Blank lines are used in front of each block of logically related statements	5
Correctness	Program solves the assigned problem using methods described in program description.	20
	Program compiles without errors.	5
	Program executes without crashing.	5
	Program produces the correct output when tested using different user input.	50
TOTAL		100